

Worth Fighting For

Emily Hearn

Frozen lake, frozen tears
Frozen hope, frozen years
Life came slowly to a stall, a stall
'Cause you've been paralyzed by all you want
Feeling lifeless and cold
Always coming up a little short Don't lay down, your life's not over, gotta stand your ground,
If your heart still beating, then it's worth fighting for
Even when you bleeding, you're worth fighting for Quiet mouth, empty eyes
Pretty face, all disguised
So disappointed the years, she's tried
Now taking solace in the tears she cries
Feeling helpless and weak
Letting failure have a voice to speak Don't lay down, your life's not over, gotta stand your ground,
If your heart still beating, then it's worth fighting for
Even when you bleeding, you're worth fighting for There's a peace in the morning, of starting new
So when you hear hope calling, see it through
See it through, see it through Don't lay down, your life's not over, gotta stand your ground,
If your heart still beating, then it's worth fighting for
Even when you bleeding, you're worth fighting for You're worth, fighting for You're worth, fighting for

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>