

Where Do I Begin?

Idina Menzel

Where do I begin, my love?
Starting with the things I haven't said enough of
Starting with the day you changed my life
And ending with the way I feel tonight
Where do I begin?
Where do I belong if you're not here?
'Cause this is way beyond my darkest fear
I don't know where I end or where I start
Each mile in between is way too far
Where do I begin?
I've always counted all my blessings
Knowing you'd defend me and stand by my side
If only I didn't lose my senses
Each time I intended these words to come out right
Where do I begin my love?
Maybe with the morning you brought me the sun
Maybe with the stars from outer space
You took a few and lit up my face
Where do I begin?
I've always counted all my blessings
Knowing you'd defend me, stand by my side
If only I didn't lose my senses
Each time I intended for these words to come out right
Where do I begin, my love?
I always read the last page instead of the first one
There's no need to rush it all in
I love you and I'll say it again
Where do I begin?
Oh, where do I begin?
And where should we begin?
