

Comfort

ashleigh stone

You may find it
Lying in a field of grass
And you may find it
In the artifacts of your past
And you may find it
In the streets of your hometown
Or maybe home is a melody that makes familiar sounds

And isn't heritage something?
Its a riddle told thru time
And what may be your solitude
May very well be mine
And what may be your solitude
May very well be mine

We've got to understand
That we're all one
This city, this moment
This sun
Whatever it was
Whatever it is
Whatever will be
We've got it all in the walls of this city

And she needs sunsets and wide open space
And he needs rivers and trees and quiet lakes
They always seek it
They look for the place
And now they've found it
All at once in this great state

We've got to understand
That we're all one
This city, this moment
This sun
Whatever it was
Whatever it is
Whatever will be

We've got it all in the walls of this city

We've got to understand

That we're all one

This city, this moment

This sun

Whatever it was

Whatever it is

Whatever will be

We've got it all in the walls of this city

We've got it all in the walls of this city
