

Heads or Tails

Shaimus

I found you on in the mud,
face down in the street 1973.
could have seen almost anything. In the palm of a thief, you fell when he ran
to the getaway van.
Witness to everything. And you've so much to say, but you're just a grain within the gray.
Never in one place, cuz you know you'll never stay.
Is it heads or is it tails?
Leave your past behind, and your path leave up to faith.
In the middle of a war,
shot down overseas.
Landed somewhere in the trees.
See how far you've flown. And there you lay,
til somebody saw you,
picked you up and adored you,
so far away from home. You moved everywhere and back again,
And all you've given is your weary face.
You've seen it all, and all you've been is quiet all these years.
What would you say? Time has passed,
and he has left you
for some other refuge.
Oh how things have changed.
And people walk by.
All look like they're hooked in,
like no one would listen,
even if you had a way.
