Born Yesterday

Something for Kate

All this loud noise
All this pressure
All these distractions
A bigger pictureI can see it with my eyes
I can taste it in my mouth
I could sit here all night
But I've got my hands fullShake all the right hands
Disigned to please
A slight habit, a slight tendency to repeat, to repeat, to repeat...He can see it with his eyes
It's like salt in his mouth
He can sit here all night
But he's got his hands full nowIt's just another night
So switch off the light and sleep for a while
Tomorrow things will be alright
If you open your eyesIt's just another night
So switch off the light and sleep for a while
Tomorrow things will be alright
If you open your eyes
If you open your eyes
Open your eyesThe problem isn't the problem
The solution is the problem
Can't hear
Can't hear
You can't hear
Can't hearIt's just another night
So switch off the light and sleep for a while
Tomorrow things will be alright
If you open your eyesIt's just another night
So switch off the light and sleep for a while
Tomorrow, tomorrow things will be alrightI can see it with my eyes
I can taste it in my mouth
I can sit here all night
But I've got my hands full now...I've got my hands full
Got my hands full
Got my hands full
Got my hands full
If you open your eyes
