Limbs

Emma Pollock

Dancing in the deep, Her body
Strengthens in a way, We don't seeIn you and me
These limbs
They can take you higher
They can take you higherTailored by the moons, She mates so well
Perfected by the symmetry, Her body tellsJust you wait and see
These limbs
They can take you higher
They can take you higherSitting by the bed, I can see through her skin
She can hardly breathe a word, Her body is so thinBut I can still see
These limbs
They can break like branches
They can break like branches
