Patiently Waiting

Social Code

I've found a line up forming running down my street
So many people standing blistering in the heat
I can feel my chest its pounding through my skin
Am I really here? I'm really knew at this Eyes wide open I think I feel alive
I don't take this for granted nothing passes byCause Anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waiting
Cause Anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waitingWhat I've figured out that this line is growing mould
Stressed cramped up inside release and let it out
I'm not better than, I'm merely surfacing
It's hard to figure out who else has come around
Eyes wide open I think that I feel alive
I don't take for granted nothing passes byCause anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waiting
Cause anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waitingWhat I've figured out
Please try and figure it out
Cause when you figure it out
So much to benefit
About the human race
We're all suffering
Fallen further from who we areCause anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waiting
Cause anybody are you listening to me
Everybody seems so patiently waitingWaiting for what?
Waiting for what?
Waiting
