

Crash

Jamie McDell

So high up,
Higher than the clouds,
You know its not for me,
I like it on the ground, So high up,
covering the sea,
Painting walls on everything,
Your picture used to be, And you cant help yourself from dying in this town,
Just too much to figure out I know you'll never figure out I've watched you crash and burn a thousand times
again,
I know that smile you wear is waiting for the end,
I see you sitting in the dark scared,
but I know you never really fight fair,
You know you never fight fair,
So twisted,
Your aggravated scheme,
Spend hours living from the screen, And you wont stop yourself from crying when you fall, Now you've got nothing at all, And this is all I think about I've watched you crash and burn a thousand times
again,
I know that smile you wear is waiting for the end,
I see you sitting in the dark scared,
but I know you never really fight fair,
You know you never fight fair, You know you never fight fair I'm tired of throwing out the shadows in your past, would you just give yourself a chance, I know you'll never figure out I've watched you crash and burn a thousand times again,
I know that smile you wear is waiting for the end,
I see you sitting in the dark scared,
but I know you never really fight fair,
You know you never fight fair, You know you never fight fair Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>