Texas Size Heartache

Joe Diffie

Little Miss Dynamite, just blew my world away
It was a pitiful sight, me beggin' her to stay
I never had a hunch, so how was I to know?
She packed a punch, that knocked my heart out coldShe put a hurtin' on this old cowboy, broke my heart like a little play toy
Brought me to my knees from ten feet tall
The night she left me in Amarillo, I cried crocodile tears in my pillow
The bigger they are, the harder they fall
How could a blue-eyed beauty only five foot three
Lay a Texas size heartache, on me?She came across so cool, I didn't think that I'd get burned
Now I'm a big ol' fool, with a leavin' lesson learned
Thought I was strong, like ol' Hercules
She proved me wrong, with her little 'C'est La Vie'She put a hurtin' on this old cowboy, broke my heart like a little play toy
Brought me to my knees from ten feet tall
The night she left me in Amarillo, I cried crocodile tears in my pillow
The bigger they are, the harder they fall
How could a blue-eyed beauty only five foot three
Lay a Texas size heartache, on me?
