Synchronizing

Tesla Boy

I have some time to spare
Think it would be fair
To teach what I careI told them "walk the line"
Twenty zero nine
Is bringing new crimeWill you remember this time
When I said "Don't you cry!"
I was throwing my knivesBut synchronizing love again
Oh, You are paralized, my lamb
As I warm up wax again again and againStill, will you please stand still And forget the thrill
Or you will be killedYou will not feel the pain
Of the world. Remain
Calm and restrainedYou will remember this time
You are young and alive
And I'm throwing the knifeBut synchronizing love again
Oh, You are paralized, my lamb
As I warm up wax again again and againStaring down the pretty face
I want to know her name

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/