

Old Heart Falls

Katatonia

The weighted clouds coming by
Has me looking
Right here under the sky
And I left my home
Passed the evening fires
In the blink of an eye
I had closed the door behind meThe vapour of old love
Will transfigure through a veil of clarity
I sense my grave way below the mireSorrow will find you
It's voice has given way to mine
Heart pumps death into our heredity
Who wants to come with meFor every dream that is left behind me
I take a bow
With every war that will rage inside me
I hear the sound
Of another day in this vanishing life
Returned to dust
And every chance I've pushed away
Into the nightTime won't let go
It's got you in debt now
And it's got me crawling all the way back to the start
I swear that I saw you there
Your hands were reaching out for mineSorrow will find youFor every dream that is left behind me
I take a bow
With every war that will rage inside me
I hear the sound
Of another day in this vanishing life
Returned to dust
And every chance I've pushed away
Into the nightI sense my grave way below the mire

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>