

This Is Why We Can't Have Nice Things

The Blackout

I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
She looks at him, her heartbeat starts to melt
She said, "I made you up to hurt myself"
You leave the room and I smell you on my clothes
You're dangerous and beautiful, my thorn and my rose
Let's just make things work
There's nowhere better then here
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
I hate the pain that I went and put you through
'Cause I will never be perfect 'cause I'll never be you
What the air doesn't see, the heart can't breath
But all that pain went away when I saw you leave
Let's just make things work
There's nowhere better then this
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
Say what you want, it would always end
(This was never gonna be simple)
Say what you want, it was all pretend
(This was never gonna be simple)
Say what you want, it would always end
(This was never gonna be simple)
Say what you want, it was all pretend
(This was never gonna be simple)
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
I don't care what you're thinking
I don't care what you're saying
When everything is gone we'll still be begging for more
This was never gonna be simple
(Begging for more)
This was never gonna be simple
(Begging for more)
This was never gonna be simple
(Begging for more)
This was never gonna be simple
(Begging for more)
This was never gonna be simple
This was never gonna be simple
