

Two Lines

Lightships

somehow through a series of exchanges two lines get entangled and entwined now i don't plan to let you down i'm as steady as the sea i feel the cold air arriving and the winter nights could bring us closer closer

this ship sails in the dark into restful waters this ship sails from the heart in gentle water chances we won't see the sun until the birds and blossoms have returned
and this winter could bring us closer closer
