

Best Regards

Voivod

to whom it may concern your well-known address again, with no answer to my last request disregard ink spots
my presentation
consider my clear thoughts my speculations what a warning I'm more than worried the way you're talking the sky is burning the clouds are falling I'm more than sorry you write me back acknowledge my statement you don't write back blank empty words a creased white receipt what a disappointment was I indiscreet?
perhaps I'm impolite have I the right to write am I out of place?
to express my case? the time is coming I'm more than worried the world is dying the clock is ticking real action's missing
I'm more than sorry waiting for the mail I stay well-behaved best regards, good world I stay well-behaved best regards, good world well into my grave
