

Still a Rose

Bee

Feels like we got a thousand miles to go, buddy.
By any other name your still a rose.
Nice to know were on the same road,
pretty sure it's the best we could have chose,
either way I would have found you I suppose, buddy.
It's funny how life works it's self out,
not sure I could explain it anyhow.
If I had known, if my tomorrow could have ever look like this,
I would probably count theuff minutes and doubt.
By any other name your still a rose, buddy,
come rain or shine our love will grow.
Like a flower from the garden and
I'll give you my heart and soul,
forever more,
Feels like we got a thousand miles to go, buddy.
So nice to know were on the same road,
and if things were not the same here,
or you were just a stranger.
By any other name your still a rose. Seems like we've weathered a few storms.
You kept me warm within your arms.
The clouds are gone, there's no more rain.
The sun is free, to shine again.
Together is where we both belong.
By any other name your still a rose, buddy,
come rain or shine our love will grow.
Like a flower from the garden and
I'll give you my heart and soul,
forever more,
Feels like we got a thousand miles to go, buddy.
So nice to know were on the same road,
and if things were not the same here,
or you were just a stranger.
By any other name your still a rose. Feels like we got a thousand miles to go, buddy.
By any other name your still a rose.
It's nice to know were on the same road,
pretty sure it's the best we could have chose,
either way I would have found you this i know.
