

A Crush To Pass The Time

Plushgun

When I first laid eyes on you
I felt a flash of dÃ©jÃ  vu
Without a drink to say I do
Guess you're not the perfect sign And though I'd see you once again
I knew that we would just be friends
It's too much work to say it now
It's just a crush to pass the time And the dreams, they come again
Where I'll see you dancing with talking heads
But you'll never know of this affliction
It's emotional addiction
You know I'll never make a move, but it's okay
Saw you crying from a broken heart, but that's okay
But I'll still hold you close today
You know, in just a friend way
It's easy when you stand in line
I see your name right next to mine
How many words are in a smile
I guess you're not the flirting kind All the other boys admire
The way you seem to light their fire
I know I'd never stand to win this fight
It's just a crush to pass the time And the dreams, they come again
Where I'll see you dancing with the talking heads
But you'll never know of this affliction
It's emotional addiction
You know I'll never make a move, but it's okay
Saw you crying from a broken heart, but that's okay
But I'll still hold you close today
You know, in just a friend way

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>