Learn To Live With What You Are

Ben Folds

I know that you're in there
I can see you
You're saying you're okay
I don't believe you
And now that the gig is off, the spell is broken
The fat lady sung, the President has spoken
These days that you were waiting for will come and go
Like any day, just another day
There's never gonna be a moment of truth for you
While the world is watching
All you need is the thing you forgotten
And that's to learn to live with what you are
So freak out if you wanna
And I'll still be here
Don't call me for years and when you do
Yeah, I'll still be here
I'm not saying the effort is a waste of time
But I just love you for the things you couldn't change though you've tried
These hours of confusion they will soon expire
Like everything does
There's never gonna be a moment of truth for you
While the world is watching
All you need is the thing you've forgotten
And that's to learn to live with what you are
Sometimes everything you've ever wanted floats above
He's sticking out his tongue and laughing
While everything that anyone could ever need is down below
Waiting for you to know this
There's never gonna be a moment of truth for you
While the world is watching
'Cause all you need is the thing you've forgotten
And that's to learn to live with what you are
You got to learn to live with what you are
You got to learn to live with what you are
