

The Right Time Has Come Now

Jennifer Rush

You came out of nowhere, I won't go there
It was a place full of despair
I sure wouldn't feel any shame
If you no longer knew my name
No, I don't dare so much
But I need more than just your touch
The right time has come now
Ooh, show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
Ooh, show me some emotion, hey
It wasn't enough to break my heart
You took it and you tore it apart
My love stands right here before your eyes
Ooh, your eyes
But it's plain to see that your love lies
Though you might be the first
It could never be much worse
The right time has come now
Ooh, show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
Ooh, show me some emotion
Matter of fact
Now the right time has come
In the wrong direction
Running myself down
It's gonna stop now
Ready or not
Now the right time has come
In the wrong direction
Running myself down
It's gonna stop now
Though you might be the first
It could never be much worse
The right time has come now
The right time has come now

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>