

Little Echo

Violet Indiana

Looking back safe in the future
I can see the love that I was used
To call my sanity
Is just slipping away Lonely life that offers
Empty self destruction
And seduction tenderness
Overcame my way Those days, have fallen behind me
Those days, start calling behind me Everyday a desert would be
I could see the world
Caving in on me
Looking in to me Disguising and guiding
Through blindness
And my own insecurity Those days, have fallen behind me
Those days, start calling behind me
