

Perserverance

Hatebreed

I know your fear of loss
And your struggles with faith
And how it takes all that you have to face the day
The virtues you possess now bring you to eternal pain
All you have is contempt for a life you can't obtain
All your heroes have failed you
Yet you try and prevail
Face your torment and dismantle your doubt
Refuse this legacy of shame and deceit
Cause the only real truth in your life that you know is hostility
Your world is coming apart
Remain steadfast
Perseverance
Against all opposition
Crushing all limitations
Pure strength through solitude
Discipline and determination
You can't accept what you've been told
Anchored in sin you must reverse your descent
Declare the weight of the world has yet to claim you
And admit that your faults will not restrain you
Glimpses of fate bring light to your despair
Realize truth isn't short of your grasp
Resurrect every dream that you buried alive
And never succumb to the war that you fight in your heart
Your world is coming apart
Remain steadfast
Perseverance
Against all opposition
Crushing all limitations
Pure strength through solitude
Discipline and determination

Songwriters

JAMES SHANAHAN, SEAN MARTIN, CHRIS BEATTIE, MATTHEW BYRNE Published by Lyrics © THE BICYCLE MUSIC COMPANY
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>