

Kentucky

Edwin McCain

The night before your wedding

I dreamed what I would say

I'd beg you for forgiveness

For all the mess I've madeI dreamed that you were gracious

I dreamed you wished me well

I dreamed that you were vicious

You damned me straight to HellBut, oh sweet Kentucky no matter where I land

I was just a boy for you and he will be your man

I was just a boy for you and he will be your manI'd tell you that I'm lonely

And fame has let me down

Living like a stranger

Traveling town to townAnd all my aspirations

Don't amount to much

The wine and the women

Are such a shameful crutchBut, oh sweet Kentucky no matter where I land

'Cause I was just a boy for you and he will be your man

And I was just a boy for you and he will be your manI know you will be happy and I'll be in the band

'Cause I was just a boy for you and he will be your man

And I was just a boy for you and he will be your man

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>