

A Young Understanding

Sundara Karma

Hold on tight
You've got a way to go
You're terrified by the open road
In a daze you've lost control
You find a gang
And it makes you feel better than the other girls
And you pray they're just boys and not villains
One's got religious tattoos, he'll be forgiven
Let go
There is nothing more to hide
Seeing life through closed eyes
It's just young understanding
You know, that time is on your side
Seeing life through closed eyes
It's just a young understanding
Cruising round, in a friend's new car
You've always known that they won't get you far
Found yourself on a downward slope
It's okay 'cause it makes you feel better than the other girls
And you pray they're just boys, they're not villains
One's got religious tattoos, he'll be forgiven
Let go, there is nothing more to hide
Seeing life through closed eyes
It's just a young understanding
You know, that time is on your side
Seeing life through closed eyes
It's just a young understanding
Torn apart, can't you see?
They left their hearts in the seventies
Reach for a sign, reach for an understanding
Reach for a sign, reach for an understanding
Reach for a sign, reach for an understanding

Songwriters

FRASER T. SMITH, OSCAR LULU Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>