

Open Wounds

Dreamshade

As a thunder that strikes the ground,your demise has ripped my open wounds My loud cries tear the air'cause you left an empty chairIn the mirror my tearful face,my vanished soul,the lack of your embraceI try to survive but agony is killing me inside

Where did you go?

Why don't you answer me?

You fucking left me aloneThe wind will blow your ashes far awayI'll be waiting for you, waiting for death,waiting to reach you again my friend,we swore eternal promises,that couldn't be forgottenMy loud cries tear the air'cause you left an empty chairLying in that coffin, your body, frozen

Pale as winter, fleeting as autumn, far from springI'll be waiting for you, waiting for death,waiting to reach you again my friend,we swore eternal promises,that couldn't be forgottenMakes no sense to live my life without you

No, I still can't believe it

Now all I see are just my open wounds

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>