

Moon Child

Jerry Jeff Walker

They say I made the moon
Everything was in the dark
 No memories at all
Just a tiny freezing wind in my back
 As I was sitting there
Singing a song they had never heard before
 Suddenly, a voice told me
 "Keep on singing, little boy
And raise your arms in the big black sky
 Raise your arms the highest you can
 So the whole universe will glow"

My first vision was a bush growing down the river
 And I couldn't stop crying
 Something was missing
I realized I was in love with a voice
 I called it, again, and again
But all I heard was the echo in the light
