Fake It To Make It

Devour The Day

Dream ring circus
Duct Tape dreams
Can't find purpose
When we look behind the scenesIt doesn't make any sense
Why anyone would fake it to make it
It doesn't make any sense
I should have known, it's just a showI should've known, should've known, should've known
I should've known, should've known, should've known
Sideshow magic
Image queen
It's so tragic
What you killed to live the dreamIt doesn't make any sense
Why anyone would fake it to make it
It doesn't make any sense
I should have known, it's just a showI should've known, should've known, should've known
I should've known, should've known, should've knownYou stick your head into the flame
And then you wonder why it burns
You keep looking for the fameStick your head into the flame
And then you wonder why it burns
What will you do when the light runs out
I should've known, should've known, should've known
I should've known, should've known, should've known
You stick your head into the flame
And then you wonder why it burns
I should've known, should've known, should've known
I should've known, should've known, should've known
You stick your head into the flame
And then you wonder why it burns
