

Tell Me I'm Wrong

Benjamin R

I see you smile, such a silent smile
A bittersweet emotion
From deep inside your eyesAnd sometimes in the night
As you whisper in your sleep
You reach out like you used to
And then it cuts so deepFor the love that I am sending
Now it's drifting with the wind
And the faith I'm still pretending
It's a fight my heart can't winJust tell me I'm wrong
Just tell me this love ain't gonna die
Just tell me I'm wrong
Whatever you need I'll make it rightJust don't keep me hanging on, girl
To a dream your heart can't find
And don't you know, it's breaking mine?I roam the streets
Trying to read your mind
A drifter going nowhere
For now these eyes are blindBut somewhere in that night
There's a dream that drives me on
No matter what it takes now
'Cause still it seems so strongBut the love that I am sending
Now it's drifting with the wind
And the doubts, they're never ending
It's a fight my heart can't winJust tell me I'm wrong
Just tell me this love ain't gonna die
Just tell me I'm wrong
Whatever it takes I'm gonna tryJust don't keep me hanging on, girl
To a dream your heart can't find
And don't you know, it's breaking mine?
No, no, no, breaking mineJust tell me I'm wrong
Just tell me this love ain't gonna die
Just tell me I'm wrong
Whatever you need I'll make it rightJust don't keep me hanging on, girl
To a dream your heart can't find
Don't you know, don't you know
You're breaking mine? You're breaking mine
