

Trembling

Yellowcard

Trembling, hold me now I'm torn between silence and violent expression
Tired of believing everyone wants to care
And cherish someone I'm so scared
Of never having anyone Haunted by my abandoned dreams
Tiny voices where would be screams Now be still, it won't be long We will be together in search of a new life
Striving as one in this world to find something pure
I'm missing you now I'm quite sure
That I've finally found someone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>