

The Whisperer

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

You are the whisperer, you are the unborn son
You are the look of mis-deception in the eyes of all the people you love
You are the whisperer, you are the new born
You are the sun in the sky that makes it seem so blue
When heaven and hell are caught playing cards with our lives
And you know that the house will always win
How can I have lost all my faith in you
When your eyes were wide open? These hands won't separate the armor
You know it only makes it harder
You are the whisperer, you are the mystery girl
You are the noose around the neck of all the people
That will hang to save us all
You are the whisperer, you are the new born
You are the sun in the sky that makes it feel so blue
When heaven and hell are caught playing cards with our lives
And you know that the house will always win
How can I have lost all my faith in you
When your eyes were wide open? These hands won't separate the armor
You know it only makes it harder
It's amazing every time you save me from another day inside my head
When the good, the bad and all the ugly people seem to gamble
It makes it obvious to me
We won't be the ones who're left behind
