

For Members Only

Northstar

Just forget all about fate
While I unlock this gentlemen's promise
With flesh like fire but it lacks a color
And chemical laughs (that) fly around
Like drama
I know I move like an apparition in a style that's all ghostwritten
But these are the things I can take apart
These are the things I can take... You move me like I've got new feet.. Just don't leave me like this Because I need wonder.. My stereo has blown away
So for now your voice can stay..
But once they all circle me..
I will rip apart this machine.. I am a prince
With paper parts
Made of spit and paper dolls
A killer's karma has been bound
Uneven seams
A broken bow...
She's got this problem with people flying
One way tickets and a fear of crying
But these are the things she can take apart
These are the things I will take... You move me like I've got new feet.. Just don't leave me like this Because I need wonder.. My stereo has blown away
So for now your voice can stay..
But once they all circle me..
I will rip apart this machine.. I cut her up and sent all the parts and they hung them on all the corners and bars

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>