

Armed With A Mind

Have Heart

caked up and faked up, she's obsessed with the outside.
nothing earned, too afraid to fail. so she leads a hollow life void of insight loving what you see, but you fear what you think because of your mind and your body there's a missing link that leaves you vulnerable, susceptible to pain you're a garden of potential submerged in the rain said true beauty, can't be seen, with the eyes ARMED, armed with a mind i'm gonna strengthen my action with thought make use of the gift i got and walk fearless because i'm armed-with-a-mind a weak offense when you step to this mind over matter is power over fists i walk fearless because i'm armed with-a-mind i walk fearless with a mind far greater than just a fist. spineless and mindless. you flex your muscles and not your head a deep man with a strong point made without one thoughtful word said?
"huff and puff", the fierce fists will do the talking can't speak for yourself so your "crew"'s with you walking tell me what's worth fighting for... and it better be something greater than an evening of the score boy, your true strength sleeps behind your eyes!
its
the absent minded fool who's afraid to think, to extend an open hand,
to dare to earn a thing.
its the gift inside our heads not to take for granted.. because an unexamined life is a seed unplanted. as the animals, they can't reason but as humans we can.
so are you just a wild animal or a rational man?
our bodies bring us nowhere, might does NOT make right.
there's a gift inside your head

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>