Naked By the Computer

Between the Buried and Me

Those fists won't reach where she lays tonight.
Your little star in the sky just fell.
For every minute she spent in your heaven, was just a minute more in her hell.
Away from this world is her place in this world.
Where the sun's rising doesn't bring with it pain.
You have lost her now... she has forgotten you now.
Her nightmares and secrets washed away.
The past won't escape with your tears forever encased in hollowed out soul.
And that day when the smoke finally clears...
your dark, empty life will be the only one you know.
This picture of her, dead in your arms,
will hang from the nail that she drove through your heart.
Your little star in the sky just fell.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/