Still Gonna Be

Nina

all around i see a world of such uncertainty there's a very little we can depend on if there's one thing you can trust is that you'll always have my love there's nobody else for me who could every mean as muchi'm so happy now cause i know what it's like to have someone be you're everything in lifechorus:
till all the stars fall from the sky till all the oceans all run dry and even if they do still gonna be loving you and when the sun runs out of light and when the day won't turn to night even when the sky's no longer blue still gonna be right there loving youyou brightened up my days in so many special ways and you made a change in me i never thought i'd see ooh that is why i wanna keep giving you more make each moment better than the one beforechorus:
till all the stars fall from the sky
till all the oceans all run dry
and when the day won't turn to night
loving youloving you is the air i breathe something i can't live without you brought a whole new meaning to what true love's all about...chorus:
till all the stars fall from the sky untill all the oceans all run dry
and even if they do

and when the day won't turn to night
loving youtill all the stars fall from the sky
till all the oceans all run dry
i'd still gonna be loving you
