

White Dwarf

a-ha

There's a big, black picture and it's hanging on the wall.
With stars and all the planets, the milky way and all.
And in the left hand corner, perhaps a small white dwarf,
Ready to explode, implode I really can't recall But it's out there, and I'm down here.
And so far from it all Every thing's expanding in a constant state of change.
Every thing's demanding in a constant state of pain.
You radiate away. Your last remaining heat
Your atmosphere has blown away when you admit defeat But its out there (pal don't know where we are)
And I'm down here (pal don't know why we are)
And so far from it all Your time, your grace, your story in place, your life-span erased There's a big, black picture and its hanging off your wall
The stars and all the planets, the milky way and all
And in the left hand corner, perhaps a small white dwarf,
Ready to explode, implode I really can't recall. But its out there (pal don't know where we are)
And I'm down here (pal don't know why we are)
And so far from it all.
But I'm out here (pal don't know where we are)
Down here (pal don't know why we are)
