Forever

Aaron Lewis

Another cheap high rise hotel room.
Another place another show.
Another meaningless destination with no where to go.
Another time to say I love you.
Another time to say goodnight.
Another time to hear a dial tone.
Cause no one wants to fight.
Why should we fight..?Cause I see it in your eyes,
Is the sparkle gone forever?
Don't say forever...
I can feel it when we touch,
Is the fire out forever?
Don't say forever...Another time to miss a birthday.
Another time to miss my flight.
I've missed so much that I don't know what I have and what I thought I might.
What I might...Cause I see it in your eyes,
Is the sparkle gone forever?
Don't say forever...
I can feel it when we touch,
Is the fire out forever?
Don't say forever...Now I'm lying beside you,
A stranger in your arms.
We drift apart together and come back like a storm.
Like a storm...Another show up in Decatur,
Another one in San Antone,
Somewhere else in this equator takes me far away from home.
I'm coming home...I can see it your eyes,
The sparkle shines forever,
Cause this is forever...
And I can feel it when we touch,
The fire burns forever,
Cause this is forever...
