

Radio Player

Allister

there's a broken needle scratchin my 45 collection through a burned out, blown 2-speaker combinationthere's nothin left to do but crank it up loud it's pumpin through my head and it's knockin me out it doesn't really matter what's goin on now cause all i wanna do iskeep the radio playin all night long we left the radio playin all night long because the radio's playin all my favorite songsthere's a broken CD player in the backseat of my car next to the pieces of what's left from my first guitarthere's nothin left to do but crank it up loud
because the radio's playin all my favorite songswe left the radio playin all night long
we left the radio playin all night long because the radio's playin all my favorite songssome people say that my radio is dead but i won't let myself believe itwe left the radio playin all night long
we left the radio playin all night long
because the radio's playin all my favorite songswe left the radio playin all night long
because the radio's playin all my favorite songswe left the radio playin all night long
because the radio's playin all my favorite songswe left the radio playin all night long (the radio, the radio) we left the radio playin all night long (the radio, the radio) because the radio's playin all my favorite songs (the radio, the radio songs)
