

Who We Are

Haste the Day

a shadow forms in my mind a vision of a cold forsaken stone shaped as an arc in the grass so calm and left alone
it could be who we are a reflection of what we do his only friend is a quick chilled breeze says nothing as it whispers bye provides no comfort as the cold stone grieves
so calm and left alone
you have made me beautiful in your sight without you this is what i once was i remember how my heart was cold and empty without life
