Breakdown

Seether

The sun is gone and the flowers rot
Words are spaces between us
And I should've been drowned in the rivers I found of token lost
And I should've been down when you made me insecureSo break me down, if it makes you feel right
And hate me now, if it keeps you all right
You can't break me down, if it takes all your might
'Cause I am so much more than meets the eyeAnd I'm the one you can never trust
'Cause wounds are ways to reveal us
And yet I could've tried and devoted my life to both of us
But what a waste of my time when the world we had was yoursSo break me down, if it makes you feel right
And hate me now, if it keeps you all right
You can't break me down, if it takes all your might
'Cause I am so much more than all your liesHate me, break me down
So break me down
So break me downSo break me down, if it makes you feel right
And hate me now, if it keeps you all right
You can't break me down if it takes all your might
'Cause I am so much more than meets the eye

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/