

The Emperor in His War-Room

Van der Graaf Generator

i. THE EMPEROR

Standing in the space that holds the silent lace of night away from you
You think that you can hold the searing, moulted gold between your fingers ...
But it slips through, tearing tendons as it goes,
exposing the white of a knuckle ... flesh-and-metal forming letters in the mould.
Cradling you gun, after choosing the ones you think should die-Lying on the hill ... crawling over the windowsill into your living-room
They stare out, glass-eyed aimless heads, bodies torn by vultures ..
you are the man whose hands are rank with the smell of death.
Saviour of the Fallen, Protector of the Weak,
Friend of the Tall Ones, Keeper of the Peace ...
Ah, but it is the only way you know

Looking out to sea, a flattened plane of weeds which bear no living You crush life in your fist as your heart is kissed by the lips of death
Ghosts betray you, ghosts betray you, in the night they steal your eye from its socket ...
and the ball hangs fallen on your cheek.
Complaining tongues are stilled; a thousand mouths are filled with rusting metal.
Your face a shade of green; somehow you try to speak through all the garbage in your mouth
But it won't come out, and you cannot frame the words as your stepson
throws your fame into the flames and you are burned.
Saviour of the Fallen, Protector of the Weak,
Friend of the Tall Ones, Keeper of the Peace.
Ah, but it is the only way you know

ii. THE ROOM

Live by sword and you shall die so,
All your power shall come to nought,
every life you take is part of your own,
death, not power, is what you've bought.
Cringing in your room as the outriders of doom step

on your threshold;
Begging for your life as the impartial knife sinks in your screaming flesh ... without malice, merely taking murder's toll, you must pay the price of hate, and that price is your soul
Live in peace or die forever in your war-room
