

Another White Dash

Butterfly Boucher

There is something
Exciting about leavin' everything behind
There is something
Deep and pulling leavin' everything behind
Something about having everything
You think, you'll ever need
Sitting in the seat next to you
And I watch
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash fly beside us
And I watch
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash, fly beneath us
Away away
There is yelling of an engine
A constant rattling door
There is serious deep and mumbles
A conversation I'm not in
Flickering lights, shadows of trees
Makes me blink my eyes, makes the land
Appear like a really old movie
And I watch
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash, fly beside us
And I watch
Another white dash another white dash
Another white dash, fly beneath us
Ooh away away
I got a heart full of rubber bands
That keep getting caught on things
And I count
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash
I drift off at eighty something
And I count
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash
Out of time with the music
Another white dash, another white dash

Another white dash, fly beside us
And I count
Another white dash, another white dash
Another white dash, fly beneath us
There is something
Exciting about leavin' everything behind
There is something
Deep and pulling leavin' everything behind
Something about having everything
You think you'll ever need
Sitting in the seat next to you
