Doesn't Matter

Lim Giong

I know you've heard it all before, but the message don't get much better. Always competing with someone else, beating up on yourself. Deep inside you've always had this dream, crazy as it sometimes seems. Always thinking up some excuse, you just need some juice. It Doesn't matter, if your black or white. Doesn't matter if your wrong or right. All that matters, don't give up the fight. Doesn't matter if your rich or poor. All that matter's is you know the score. Doesn't matter, you can open any door. Never listen but you wanna teach. Do you practice what you always preach. before you look at someone else. Take a deeper look inside yourself, Please don't rush, take your time. Challenges are hard to climb. Before you think of hanging up your boots, just sip on some juice. It Doesn't matter, if your black or white. All that matters, don't give up the fight. Doesn't matter if your rich or poor. Doesn't matter if your wrong or right. Doesn't matter, you can open any door. All that matter's is you know the score. Cos in life we only get one chance, we gotta live it up, we gotta do it right. There's no point in having dreams. If you wanna dance the last dance, Really there is no excuse. You just need some juice. then you gotta be prepared to fight. If your gonna spend your life asleep. It Doesn't matter, if your black or white. Doesn't matter if your wrong or right. All that matters, don't give up the fight. All that matter's is you know the score. Doesn't matter if your rich or poor. Doesn't matter, you can open any door. Doesn't matter, oh no. It doesn't matter, oh no. Doesn't matter. It doesn't matter, oh no. Doesn't matter if your wrong or right. It Doesn't matter, if your black or white. All that matters, don't give up the fight. Doesn't matter if your rich or poor. All that matter's is you know the score. Doesn't matter, you can open any door

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/