

Seven Sages

Tumbleweed Company

Ok look, there's no easy way to say this but the space you sense between us is not vacant, we are the time and space we've been apart I'd like to think it's simple and it is but it defeats me when I try to listen for that minor voice So I would sit for hours listening finding patterns in the leaves and never get the message, I should've waited years The Seven Sages remember all the ancient memories the sacred knowledge that disturbs the sea serene Oh I long to be in another's arms with the one that cares for me We will carve a space in stone and make our home among the leaves Listen here, can you reach out for a star?
Claim it in your own name and Forget everything else?
Find you are more than you ever thought? Or you can sink into the heather settle in a static place far from the flow pass on and never know that you were Well I hope you take my suggestion try to cherish the moment You could be cosmic
You could be forever long before you're gone The Seven Sages remember all the ancient memories
the sacred knowledge that disturbs the sea serene Oh I long to be in another's arms
with the one that cares for me
We will carve a space in stone and make our home among the leaves and we will riot in the streets realize past memories uncover balance in the madness chaos in the sadness and the joy oh I feel it all Life surrounding me ever bounding off the ceiling, every wall

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>