Daddy's Little Girl

Aaron Dickson

Cinderella shoes, glitter on your cheek
Momâ€™s Helping you get ready, Iâ€™m happy as can be
Our very first date, you look beautiful in pink
You were only three years old but you look up at me

With little eyes, big enough to see right through
When you walk through the valleys I will walk with you
Little hands, building castles by the sea
But one day youâ€™ll move mountains just wait and see
I know youâ€™ll change the world
But youâ€™ll always be your daddyâ€™s little girl

I walk into your room, youâ€™re crying on the floor
Those teenage years can be so hard, but baby donâ€™t give up
When you need someone to hold you, Iâ€™ll be standing open arms
Even if youâ€™re seventeen I will pick you up, and Iâ€™ll look deep into

Those little eyes, big enough to see right through
When you walk through the valleys I will walk with you
Little hands, building castles by the sea
But one day youâ€™ll move mountains just wait and see
I know youâ€™ll change the world
But youâ€™ll always be your daddyâ€™s little girl
Your daddyâ€™s little girl

You look beautiful in white, and I can barely speak
Right before I give you away, you look up at me
And I still see

Those little eyes, big enough to see right through
Iâ€™ve prayed all my life that he would fight for you
So take his hand, and build a family
Girl youâ€™ll move mountains just wait and see
I know youâ€™ll change the world
And I know youâ€™ll change the world
But youâ€™ll always be daddyâ€™s little girl
