Forever Scorned

It Dies Today

Kiss the dream goodbye
Separation leaves a taste so bittersweet
And for years, you have clawed away at my flesh
Yet, I still long to hear your voice and set my eyes upon you faceSo I may bash it to pieces and laugh
As the ravens pick away at the fragments
The shadows they still haunt me
And your self pity is sickening
When you are to blame for the love lostYour self pity is sickening
You're to blame for all the love you've lost
And the contempt that consumes your life
You're to blame, so now you may kiss this dream goodbyeFor all my hopes and wishes are for this earth
To be drenched in your blood as it pours from the sky
The clouds spraying like a lacerated artery
I will marvel at it's sheer beauty

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/