

Homecoming Queen

Laura Bell Bundy

I've always been a little left of the middle
But right where I belong
So many things to see, never one to settle
If you were a hat I'd try you on I've never been shy
My heart don't lie
Been livin' on the right side of wrong I don't worry 'bout this, don't worry 'bout that
I worry 'bout where I am, not where I'm not at
I may talk too much but I say what I mean I ain't worried 'bout me, ain't worried 'bout you
I worry 'bout what I can, not what I can't do
I never needed to be the homecoming queen When I was five, I'd play dress up
And hook up Barbie with GI Joe
Now that I'm older, I must fess up
I miss those days when I'm alone You can call me strange
And I may never change
But I think I'm happy so I don't worry 'bout this, don't worry 'bout that
I worry 'bout where I am, not where I'm not at
I may talk too much but I say what I mean I ain't worried 'bout me, ain't worried 'bout you
I worry 'bout what I can, not what I can't do
I never needed to be the homecoming queen Just me and Norma Jean, doing our own thing
Making our own heaven
I may not get my way but I will be okay
I still count my blessings I don't worry 'bout this, don't worry 'bout that
I worry 'bout where I am, not where I'm not at
I may talk too much but I say what I mean I ain't worried 'bout me, ain't worried 'bout you
I worry 'bout what I can, not what I can't do
I never needed to be the homecoming queen
Never needed to be the homecoming queen
