

Hey Hey

The Planet Smashers

Locked into the moment, things get so intense
No chance to take a second, see what you're up against
It was a simple plan, but not what you expected
You took a wrong turn and lost all perspective
You're unaware of what went wrong
Hey hey, the clock's still ticking
Do what you do cause you're thinking of yourself
Hey, hey the clock's still ticking
Do what you do but you'll soon run out of time
What did you do it for?
Your wife or family?
A bright shiny car, all of which you never see
And if you had the strength, would you make a change?
It's still not too late, but time is slipping away
Hey hey, the clock's still ticking
Do what you do cause you're thinking of yourself
Hey, hey the clock's still ticking
Do what you do but you'll soon run out of time

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>