The Battle Is Already Won

Keith Green

Well, the battle is already won
And the race has already been run
It's been done, you just have to claim the victory
And the future is already made
The foundation was totally laid
When he paid the bloody price for you and meOh my friend, have you heard the story
What my Jesus has done?
We will share His triumphant glory
For the battle is already wonWhen the sign of the end shall appear
Fill the sky with a message so clear
All will hear the beloved calling of our Lord
Every tongue will confess to His Name
All his children and angels proclaim He's the same
For now, for now, for now and every more He don't changeOh my friend won't you join the chorus
Singing praise to the son
From the day that he laid his life down for us
The battle was already wonRaise your banners high
Praises fill the sky
Mountains tremble and fall
Hallelujah sing, glory to the King
Lord creator of allWell, the battle is already won
And the race has already be run
It's all been done, you just gotta claim the victory
And the future is already made
The foundation was totally laid
When he paid the ugly, bloody price for you and meOh my friend, have you heard the story
What my Jesus has done
We'll return in triumphant glory
For the battle, it's already won

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/