

Lament to the World

Phazer

Iâ€™m walking in the streets
Full of neons, noise and green smoke
My early death is at the corner
Waiting with that smile, flirting me

I was trained to feint the world,
But itâ€™s hard to keep the candle lighted
My ideals are lonesome or perhaps misunderstood,

Iâ€™m with you now,
Iâ€™m with you now,
Can you hear? Can you understand?

My inner flame was asleep,
When my word canâ€™t reach the pousy ones
I drink to you and left behind
My blind mirror with the heavy chains
I turned back that street
Iâ€™m running light away

Iâ€™m with you now,
Iâ€™m with you now,
Can you hear? Can you understand?

I want to; I want to be free.
I can now; I can now be free.
I can now; I can now be free.
I want to; I want to be free.
I can now; I can now be free.
I want to; I want to be free.
