

Calling Out

Penguin Prison

There's something I can never say
It's too complicated and you don't need to know.
I start but then I hesitate
There's too many people and I can't be alone. I got a problem, I can't decide
I change my mind about one too many times.
You got a problem, I'll tell you why
There's something else around that I need to find. Now I'm calling, calling out your name
Whenever you want me
I'm calling, calling out your name
But you're not here anymore. I can't be good at everything
So do me a favor and just take what you want
Don't tell me what I never said
You start making sense and then I'll never be done. I never told you, I never lied
You just believed me when I fooled you everytime.
I can't remember, don't tell me now
I never promised you that I'd be around. When I'm calling, calling out your name
Whenever you want me
I'm calling, calling out your name
But you're not here anymore. I got a problem, I can't decide
I change my mind about one too many times.
You got a problem, I'll tell you why
There's something else around that I need to find. Now I'm calling, calling out your name
Whenever you want me (x3)
Now I'm calling, calling out your name.
