

There's a Day

Smalltown Poets

The sun set down behind the trees
How quickly did my skin
Sense the chill upon the breezeAnd I'm uneasy, the night surrounds me
As dusk ushers out the light of day
A symbol to be sure that my life can't forever stayThere's a day when there will be no night
There's a day when there will be no night
Don't you know the lamb will be our lightVassal, star and noble moon
(There's a day)
Your king comes riding soon
[Incomprehensible]And as I mourn this loss of mine
I'll leave it up for you to shineThere's a day when there will be no night
There's a day when there will be no night
Don't you know the lamb will be our lightDarkness makes the baby cry
So the father sings a lullaby to drive the tears awayThere's a day when there will be no night
There's a day when there will be no night
Don't you know the lamb will be our light
There's a day when there will be no night
(There's a day when there will be no night)
