

Never Really Been Another Way Out

Manchester Orchestra

When you both die,
You'll both die alone
And there's a song that you'll hear when you go
Well, it sounds like the buried are home
And they know you but you'd never have known
In fact, there's never really any other way out
No, there's never really any other way out
Now your life is passing by
And you feel the same
There's no use, with you
In the back, you were laying on the bed
Trying to inflate and deflate it
You said, "I swear that I'll never [?]
I'm just a man with belief in you."
And no, there's never really anybody that counts
Know that you've never really been a body that counts
Now this life has passed you by
And you feel the same
There's no use, with you
When my fate turns to sand,
Oh, would you share the master plan?
I swear that I will try to find you
Once I'm up there
Now this life is passing by
And I feel the same
There's no room to move
'Cause I can't find a piece of mine
But I can't blame you
There's no room to
